

Mt. of the Holy Cross, Colorado.

Salt Lake City, showing Temple (as it will be when finished,) and Tabernacle.

Mrs. Jennie A. Froiseth,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Madam: Please

mail me the Anti Polygamy Standard for 1 year & send bill & I will remit subscription. Wld. remit it now if I knew what amt. to send.

Can you give me the present addresses of Gen. P.E.
Conner formerly in command of Camp Douglas & of Judge Mc Bride who had a long contest about the preemption of some land at Grantsville?

Yours respectfully,
William D. Marshall.

Knowing that heretofore it has been impossible to obtain first-class transparencies to illustrate the beauties of Yosemite and the Big Trees, Colorado, Utah, California, and the vast region "Where Rolls the Oregon," I, in 1882, not only took two journeys of 20,000 miles myself among the Rockies and on the Pacific Coast, but also SENT TWO ARTISTS ACROSS THE CONTINENT SPECIALLY TO MAKE VIEWS FOR ME, MANY OF THEM VERY ELEGANTLY COLORED, so that I am able now to exhibit views IMMEASURABLY FINER THAN HAVE EVER BEFORE BEEN SEEN OF THESE SUBJECTS and FULLY EQUAL TO ANY VIEWS EVER PROJECTED UPON A SCREEN, to illustrate any lecture.

I am able to offer such favorable terms as were never before possible for FIRST-CLASS ILLUSTRATED ENTERTAINMENTS.

"LOCAL EXPENSES" are entertainment for my assistant and myself, either at hotel or private house, and carriage for us, and our luggage from the railroad station and back to it.

My luggage weighs from 250 to 400 lbs. (No piece more than 180 lbs.) My apparatus can be put up without the slightest injury to walls, ceiling, or furniture in the finest churches or halls.

From HON. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.
GLEN HOUSE, WHITE MTS., N. H.,
22 August, 1876.

Dear Sir,—Having been present the other evening when you exhibited your views of the very remarkable scenery found in the Yellowstone National Park, I cannot but believe that these pictures are well worth seeing by the great mass of our countrymen, who are as little aware of the existence of such natural wonders as I was. Every American, who cannot visit the scene itself, ought at least to take advantage of this opportunity of gaining a good conception of it through your means.

Yours,

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

WILLIAM I. MARSHALL, Esq.

It deserves to find a place in the programme of every course of lyceum lectures and entertainments, and I hope your invitations will be as numerous as you can find time to accept.

WM. LLOYD GARRISON.

Some or all of these lectures have been delivered before the following scientific, literary, and educational institutions and organizations, viz.: The American Institute of Instruction (the oldest and far the largest educational association on this continent), The American Association for the Advancement of Science, The National Educational Association, The American Geographical Society, The Cape Ann Literary and Scientific Society, The Kansas City Academy of Sciences, The State Teachers' Associations of Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Georgia, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Indiana; sixty County and City Teachers' Institutes and Associations in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, Indiana, and New Jersey; Asbury University, University of Missouri, Alfred University, Wells, Vassar, Oberlin, and Girard Colleges.

It cannot fail of interesting audiences, and I am certain that it needs only to be known to be appreciated.

MRS. MARY A. LIVERMORE.

REV. B. K. PIERCE, D. D., in "Zion's Herald."

Worth a score of ordinary lectures. We know of no lyceum entertainment more attractive, and certainly no one more instructive.

Prof. Marshall's entertainment is one of much value and interest, as instructive as it is fascinating.—Boston Journal.

In simple interest and magnificence of illustration, it surpassed any other lecture ever given in St. Louis.—Globe-Democrat (St. Louis, Mo.)

JENNIE JUNE, in "Demorest's Monthly Magazine."

To hear it is like hearing the most marvellous of fairy stories.

A very entertaining lecture, superbly illustrated.—Boston Herald.

THE GREAT FALL OF THE YELLOWSTONE.

THE UPPER BASINS OF THE MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS.

REV. S. I. PRIME, D. D. in "N. Y. Observer."

The audience which filled Steinway Hall comprised many of our most cultivated people, and the speaker was heard, and his wonderful views witnessed with admiration for an hour and a half. It should be repeated in every town in the United States.

Four thousand people were in the hall before eight o'clock, when the doors were closed. . . . The stereopticon views were so much admired that several times the lecturer had to request the audience to restrain its applause, that he might go on with the lecture.—N. Y. Herald.

LUCY STONE, in "The Woman's Journal."

One of the most interesting and charming entertainments ever given in Boston.

The lecture was one of the most interesting and satisfactory of this or any previous course.—Lawrence (Mass.) Daily American.

The lecture and illustrations gave universal satisfaction.—Waterbury (Ct.) American.

The lectures are uncommonly interesting and valuable.—Religious Herald, (Hartford, Ct.)

It is both a lecture and exhibition. . . . Mr. Marshall ought to have all the engagements he can meet.—The Congregationalist, (Boston, Mass.)

The most entertaining lecture of the course.—New Era, (Lancaster, Pa.)

The entertainment was one of the best of the kind ever seen in Reading.—Daily Eagle, (Reading, Pa.)

The lecture was a very entertaining and instructive one, and was much enjoyed by the audience.—Intelligencer, (Doylestown, Pa.)

All are enthusiastic in praise of the lecture, both for its instruction and entertainment.—Bloomington, (Ill.) Daily Leader.

No lecture of more value will be presented to the public this winter.—REV. E. E. HALE, D. D., in Boston Advertiser.

In freshness, interest, and value, no entertainment in Mr. Pugh's Star Course this season has eclipsed the aptly-named "Evening in Wonderland." — Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Marshall is an eloquent, witty lecturer, his speech clear and distinct, and his views superb, and many of them were greeted by enthusiastic applause. — Providence (R.I.) Evening Star.

The most interesting lecture and exhibition that has been given here in a long time. — Poughkeepsie (N.Y.) Daily Eagle.

In his line of work, Mr. Marshall ranks with Messrs. Spaulding and Stoddard, and has the advantage of exhibiting American scenery which is not surpassed in the world. — Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The Illustrated Lecture on "Sierra's Enchanted Valley," under the auspices of De Molay Commandery of Knights Templars, at the Opera House, was well attended, and was an evening of rare enjoyment. — Daily Herald (Reading, Pa.).

Mr. Marshall delivered a lecture before Apollo Commandery, No. 1, of K. T., last evening. It was illustrated by dissolving views, some of them the finest ever exhibited here. — Chicago Tribune.

The lecture [on California] was beautifully illustrated . . . Mr. Marshall was happy in his descriptions, and frequent applause greeted the views. — Stoughton (Mass.) Sentinel.

The subject [i.e. California] was admirably handled, and profusely illustrated with stereopticon views of rare beauty. — Barnstable (Mass.) Patriot.

The audience filled the large hall, and the lecture was received with close attention and appreciative applause. It was one of the most interesting and instructive entertainments which we have had for a long time, and Mr. Marshall would be warmly welcomed should he visit the city again. The High School cleared upwards of $100. [Exactly $127.15]. — Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard.

Mr. Marshall's last lecture [of his course of five] was on "Yosemite and the Big Trees," and was delivered last evening before the largest audience of the entire course, and was a most admirable close of the best series of illustrated lectures ever given here. — Northwestern (Oshkosh, Wis.).

Mr. Marshall's illustrated lecture on "Yosemite and the Big Trees of California" drew a large audience, who manifested their delight at the graphic descriptions and superb views by hearty and frequent applause. . . . Altogether it was an entertainment fully equalling his "Evening in Wonderland," with which our citizens were delighted last year. — York (Pa.) Dispatch.

The views [of Yosemite and the Big Trees] are among the best ever displayed on a screen in Boston. — Boston Advertiser.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Feb. 5th, 1884.

Few lecturers during the past three seasons have so satisfied our audience of 4,000 people, in the Tabernacle, as did Mr. Marshall with his illustrated lecture. It abounded in splendid pictures and instructive and eloquent descriptions, and its delivery aroused the enthusiasm of our members to a new and lasting interest in the greatness and glory of our new far west.

C. E. BOLTON,

Sec. & M'n'g'r of Cleveland Educational Bureau.

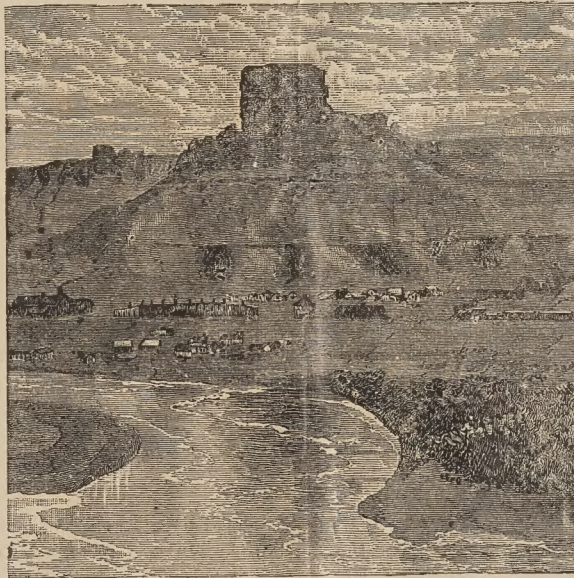

Mr. Marshall's course [of four lectures] has been the best ever given here. — Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer.

A crowd of 900 people gathered to hear Mr. Marshall's illustrated lecture, which was one of the most entertaining and instructive in the Star Course. — Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.

Mr. William I. Marshall lectured last night at Peabody Institute, on the Yosemite Valley and the Big Trees. The large hall was crowded to overflowing. All the standing room was utilized. . . . This is one of the most popular courses ever delivered at the Peabody. — Baltimore Sun.

At 7 o'clock every seat was filled, the gallery was crowded and many people stood in the aisles. . . . The success of Mr. Marshall's entertainment was most strikingly shown by the very audible sigh which arose from his audience when the electric lights flashed up, and they realized that they were in the Tabernacle and under the necessity of going home. — Cleveland Leader.

The Star Course lecture of Mr. William I. Marshall on Colorado, at the Academy of Music, filled the building last evening notwithstanding the pouring rain. . . . The delighted audience gazed and listened with increasing interest till the close. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

CASTLE ROCK, GREEN RIVER CITY.

SCENE IN WEBER CANON, UTAH.

Mr. W. I. Marshall lectured at Farwell Hall last night. The audience was large [1,500] and appreciative. His descriptions of the magnificent scenery were vivid, and the lecture was highly entertaining and instructive, and profusely illustrated with stereopticon views. — Chicago Times.

Mr. Marshall's lecture on "Utah" was attended by a very large audience, and was very highly appreciated. — Raleigh (N.C.) Evening Visitor.

BOSTON, Aug. 13, 1883.

Mr. Marshall delivered his remarkable lectures, illustrated by stereopticon views of unsurpassed excellence, in my church last winter. I but express the undivided opinion of the intelligent audience who listened to them, in saying they were accurate, interesting, and eminently instructive. No course of half a dozen lectures is more worthy of the public patronage.

A. A. MINER, D.D.

Mr. Marshall's last lecture [of his course of five] was on "Yosemite and the Big Trees," and was delivered last evening before the largest audience of the entire course, and was a most admirable close of the best series of illustrated lectures ever given here. — Northwestern (Oshkosh, Wis.).

Mr. Marshall's illustrated lecture on "Yosemite and the Big Trees of California" drew a large audience, who manifested their delight at the graphic descriptions and superb views by hearty and frequent applause. . . . Altogether it was an entertainment fully equalling his "Evening in Wonderland," with which our citizens were delighted last year. — York (Pa.) Dispatch.

Mr. Marshall's illustrated lecture on "Colorado" was, if possible, more interesting and brilliantly illuminated than his "Evening in Wonderland." — New Haven (Conn.) Palladium.

Mr. Marshall gave the last of his course of six lectures in the Peabody Institute Course last evening. The subject was Colorado. . . . There were 54 magnificent illustrations. . . . The attendance at all of Mr. Marshall's lectures has been very large. . . . The lecture was a very entertaining one and all the audience were pleased with it. — Baltimore American.

The audience at the Unity Club Course was large and enthusiastic, several times greeting the change of scene with a burst of hearty applause. Never was an audience more agreeably surprised and delighted. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

The lecture was instructive and highly entertaining, a combination that has won for it national renown. — Commercial (Cinn.) Gazette.

- XIV. (In preparation.) THE NEWEST NORTHWEST. [Illustrated.]

I WAS FOR NEARLY TEN YEARS A RESIDENT OF MONTANA, HAVE MADE FOUR VISITS TO YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, AND TRAVELLED EXTENSIVELY THROUGH THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN AND PACIFIC COAST REGIONS, INCLUDING TWO VISITS TO YOSEMITE AND THE BIG TREES.

I SENT TWO ARTISTS ACROSS THE CONTINENT, IN 1882, SPECIALLY TO MAKE NEW VIEWS FOR MY LECTURES, AND ALSO THIS YEAR, 1884, HAVE HAD MANY NEW AND WONDERFUL VIEWS MADE.

IN REPLY TO YOURS OF

Fitchburg, Mass., July 31st 1884

My lectures I to VI inclusive were delivered Dec. 4, 6, 11, 13, 18 and 20, 1883, in Peabody Institute Course, Baltimore, Md., to the largest audiences which have attended that Course since Prof. Tyndall lectured there; every seat and all standing room being occupied; and the sale of tickets stopped, and many turned away on my second night there.

My lectures VII to XII inclusive are engaged for Peabody Institute Course, Baltimore, on Nov. 4, 6, 11, 13, 18 and 20, 1884, which will make impossible any engagements between Nov. 1 and 22, except within easy reach of Baltimore.

A lecture trip west as far as Denver is proposed, for April and May.

No pains or cost have been spared to keep my collection of views of our Far West incomparably superior to any other; and it is certain that no other views for the stereopticon are in existence, or will be made for many years to come, which approach mine in beauty.

I have many Views now making (July, 1884,) of wonderfully beautiful and amazingly sublime features, especially of the scenery of the National Park, of Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Oregon, and of the astonishing and little known scenery of Southern and South-Eastern Utah and Northern Arizona, which have never yet been presented on the screen.

SPECIALLY FAVORABLE TERMS FOR COURSES OF THREE TO SIX LECTURES.

GIANTESS GEYSER IN ERUPTION.
